

A highly detailed, black and white Art Nouveau style border surrounds the entire page. It features intricate scrollwork, stylized leaves, and various floral motifs, including what appears to be a large, central floral design at the bottom. The border is dense and covers all four edges of the page.

DECOLONIZATION

choose your own adventure

A horizontal illustration of a flowering branch, possibly a hydrangea, rendered in a pixelated or mosaic style. The flowers are light purple or lavender, with green leaves interspersed. The branch curves slightly across the middle of the page.

While making up only 5 percent of the world's population, Indigenous peoples protect 80 percent of the planet's biodiversity.

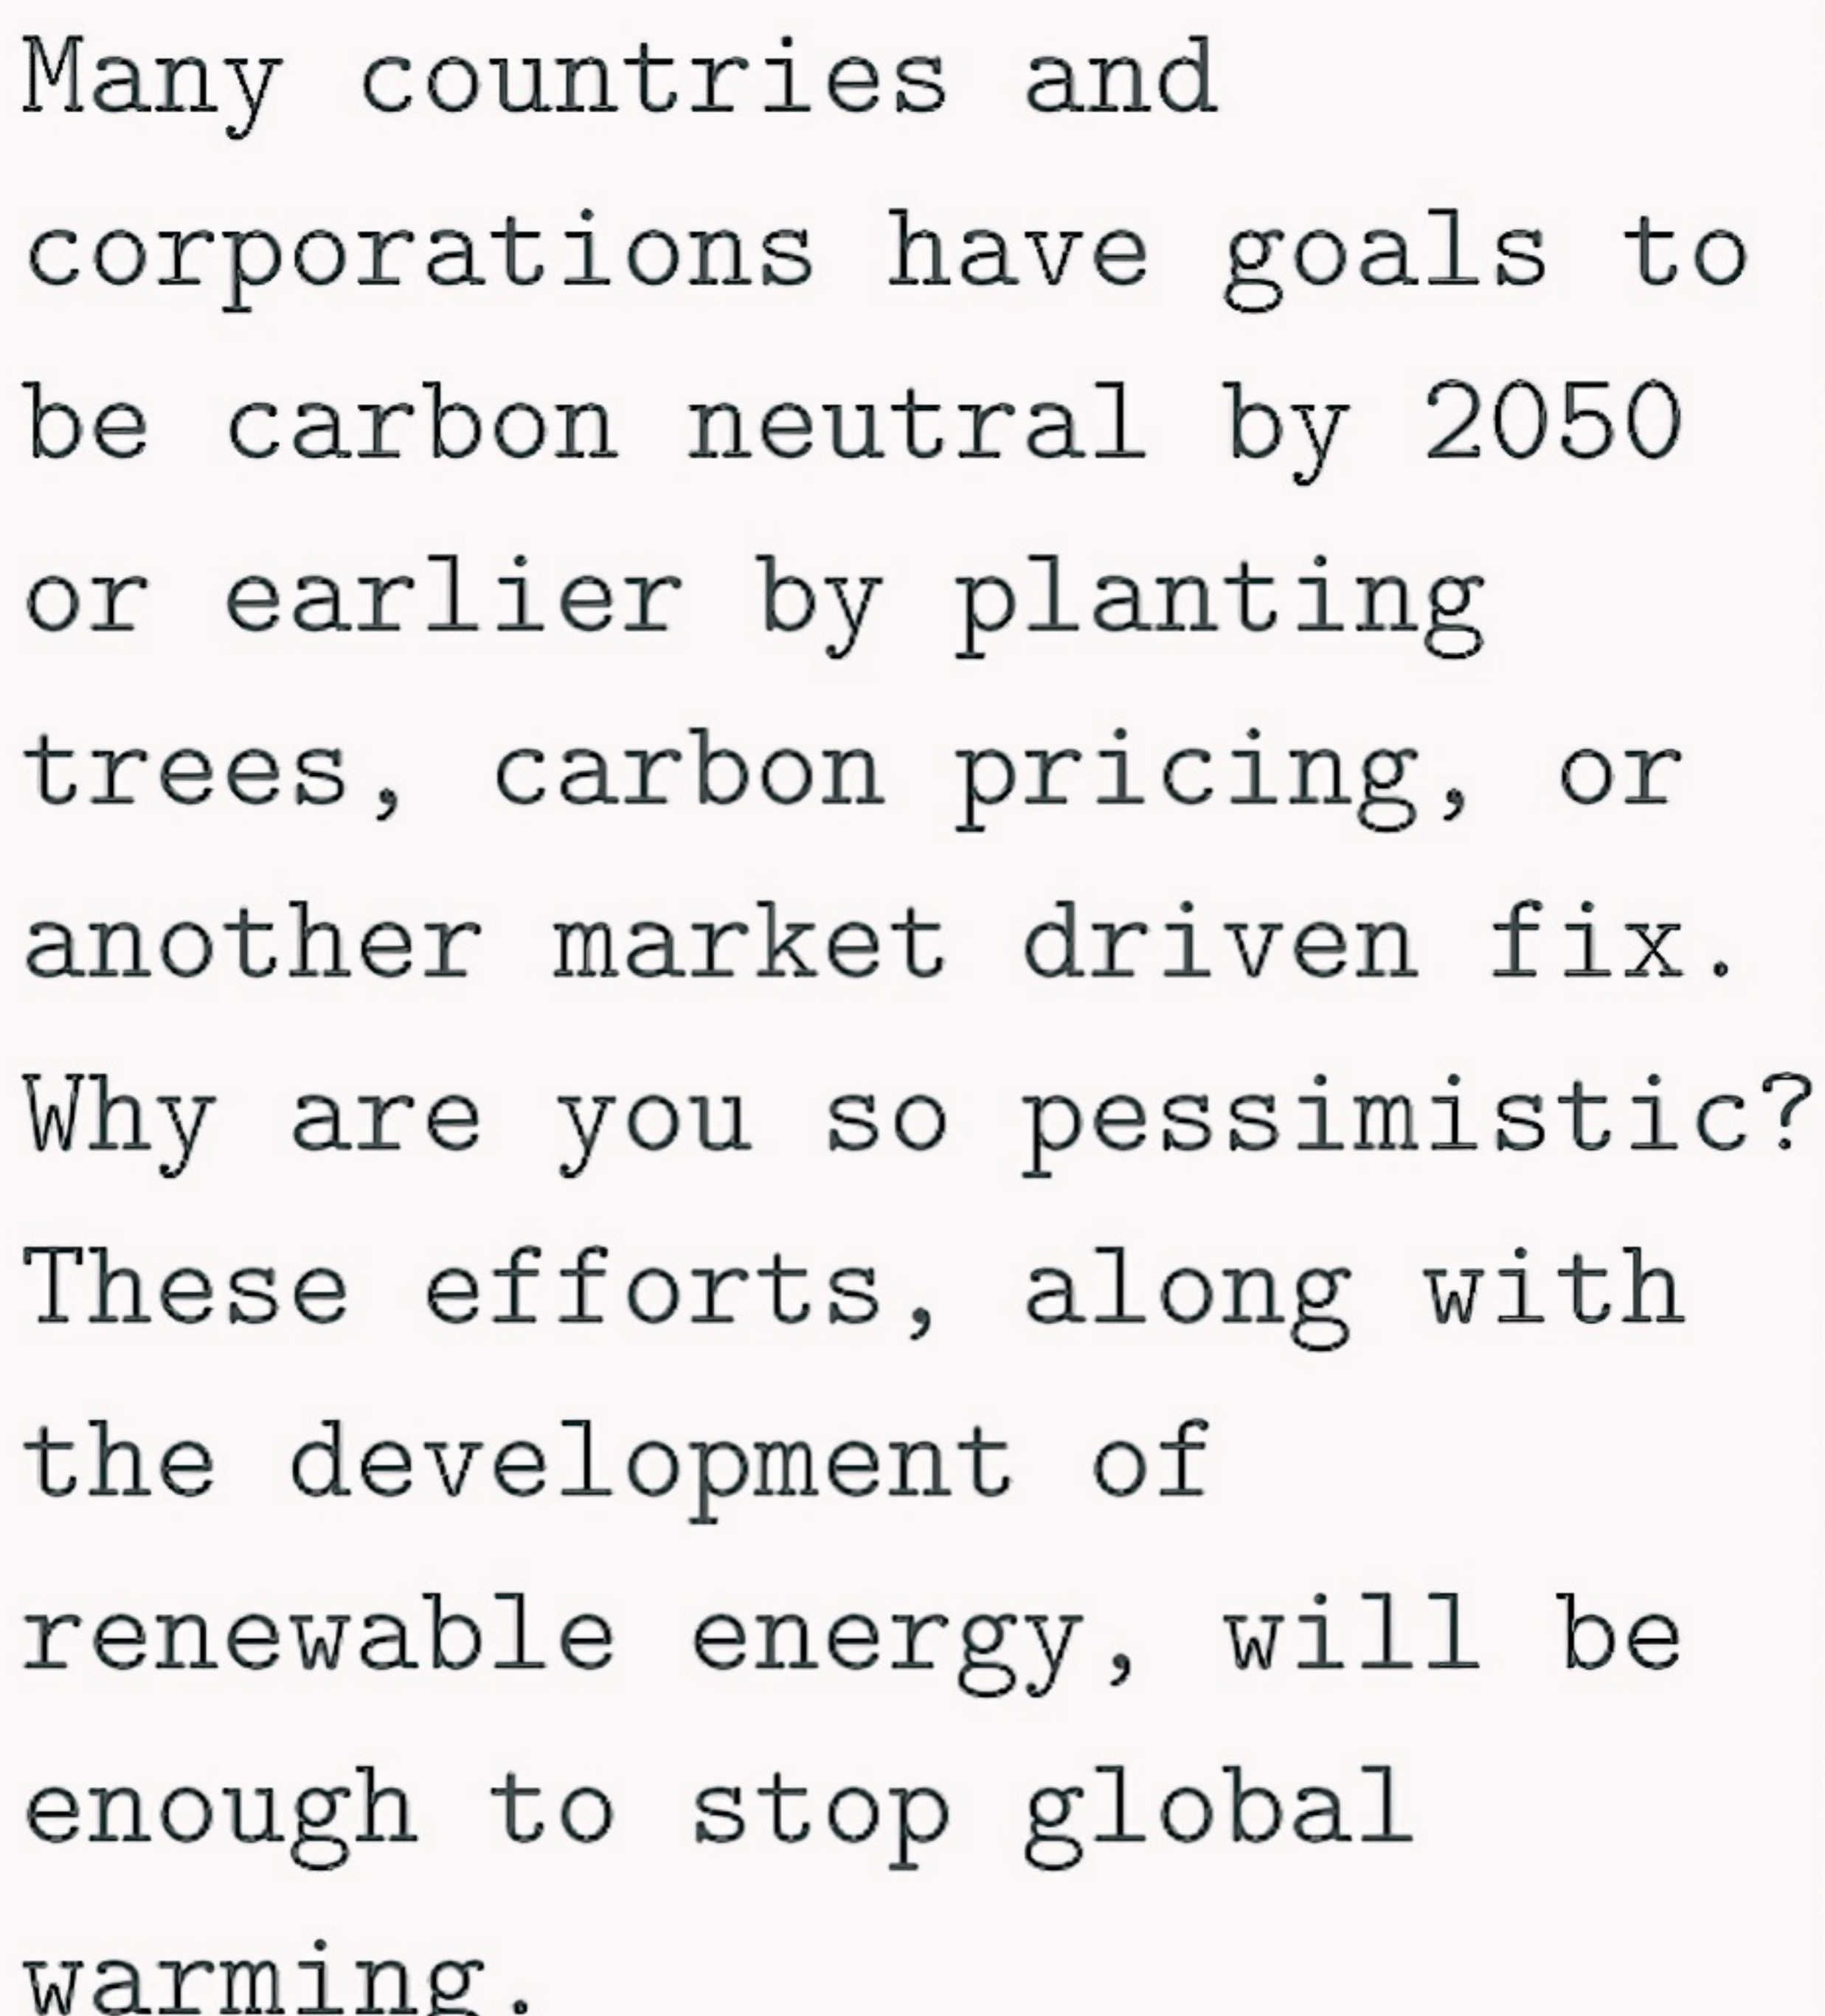

My favorite politician cares a lot about green energy and global warming. I believe that politicians are going to take care of global warming.

choose voting?
go to page 3

choose
decolonization?
go to page 5

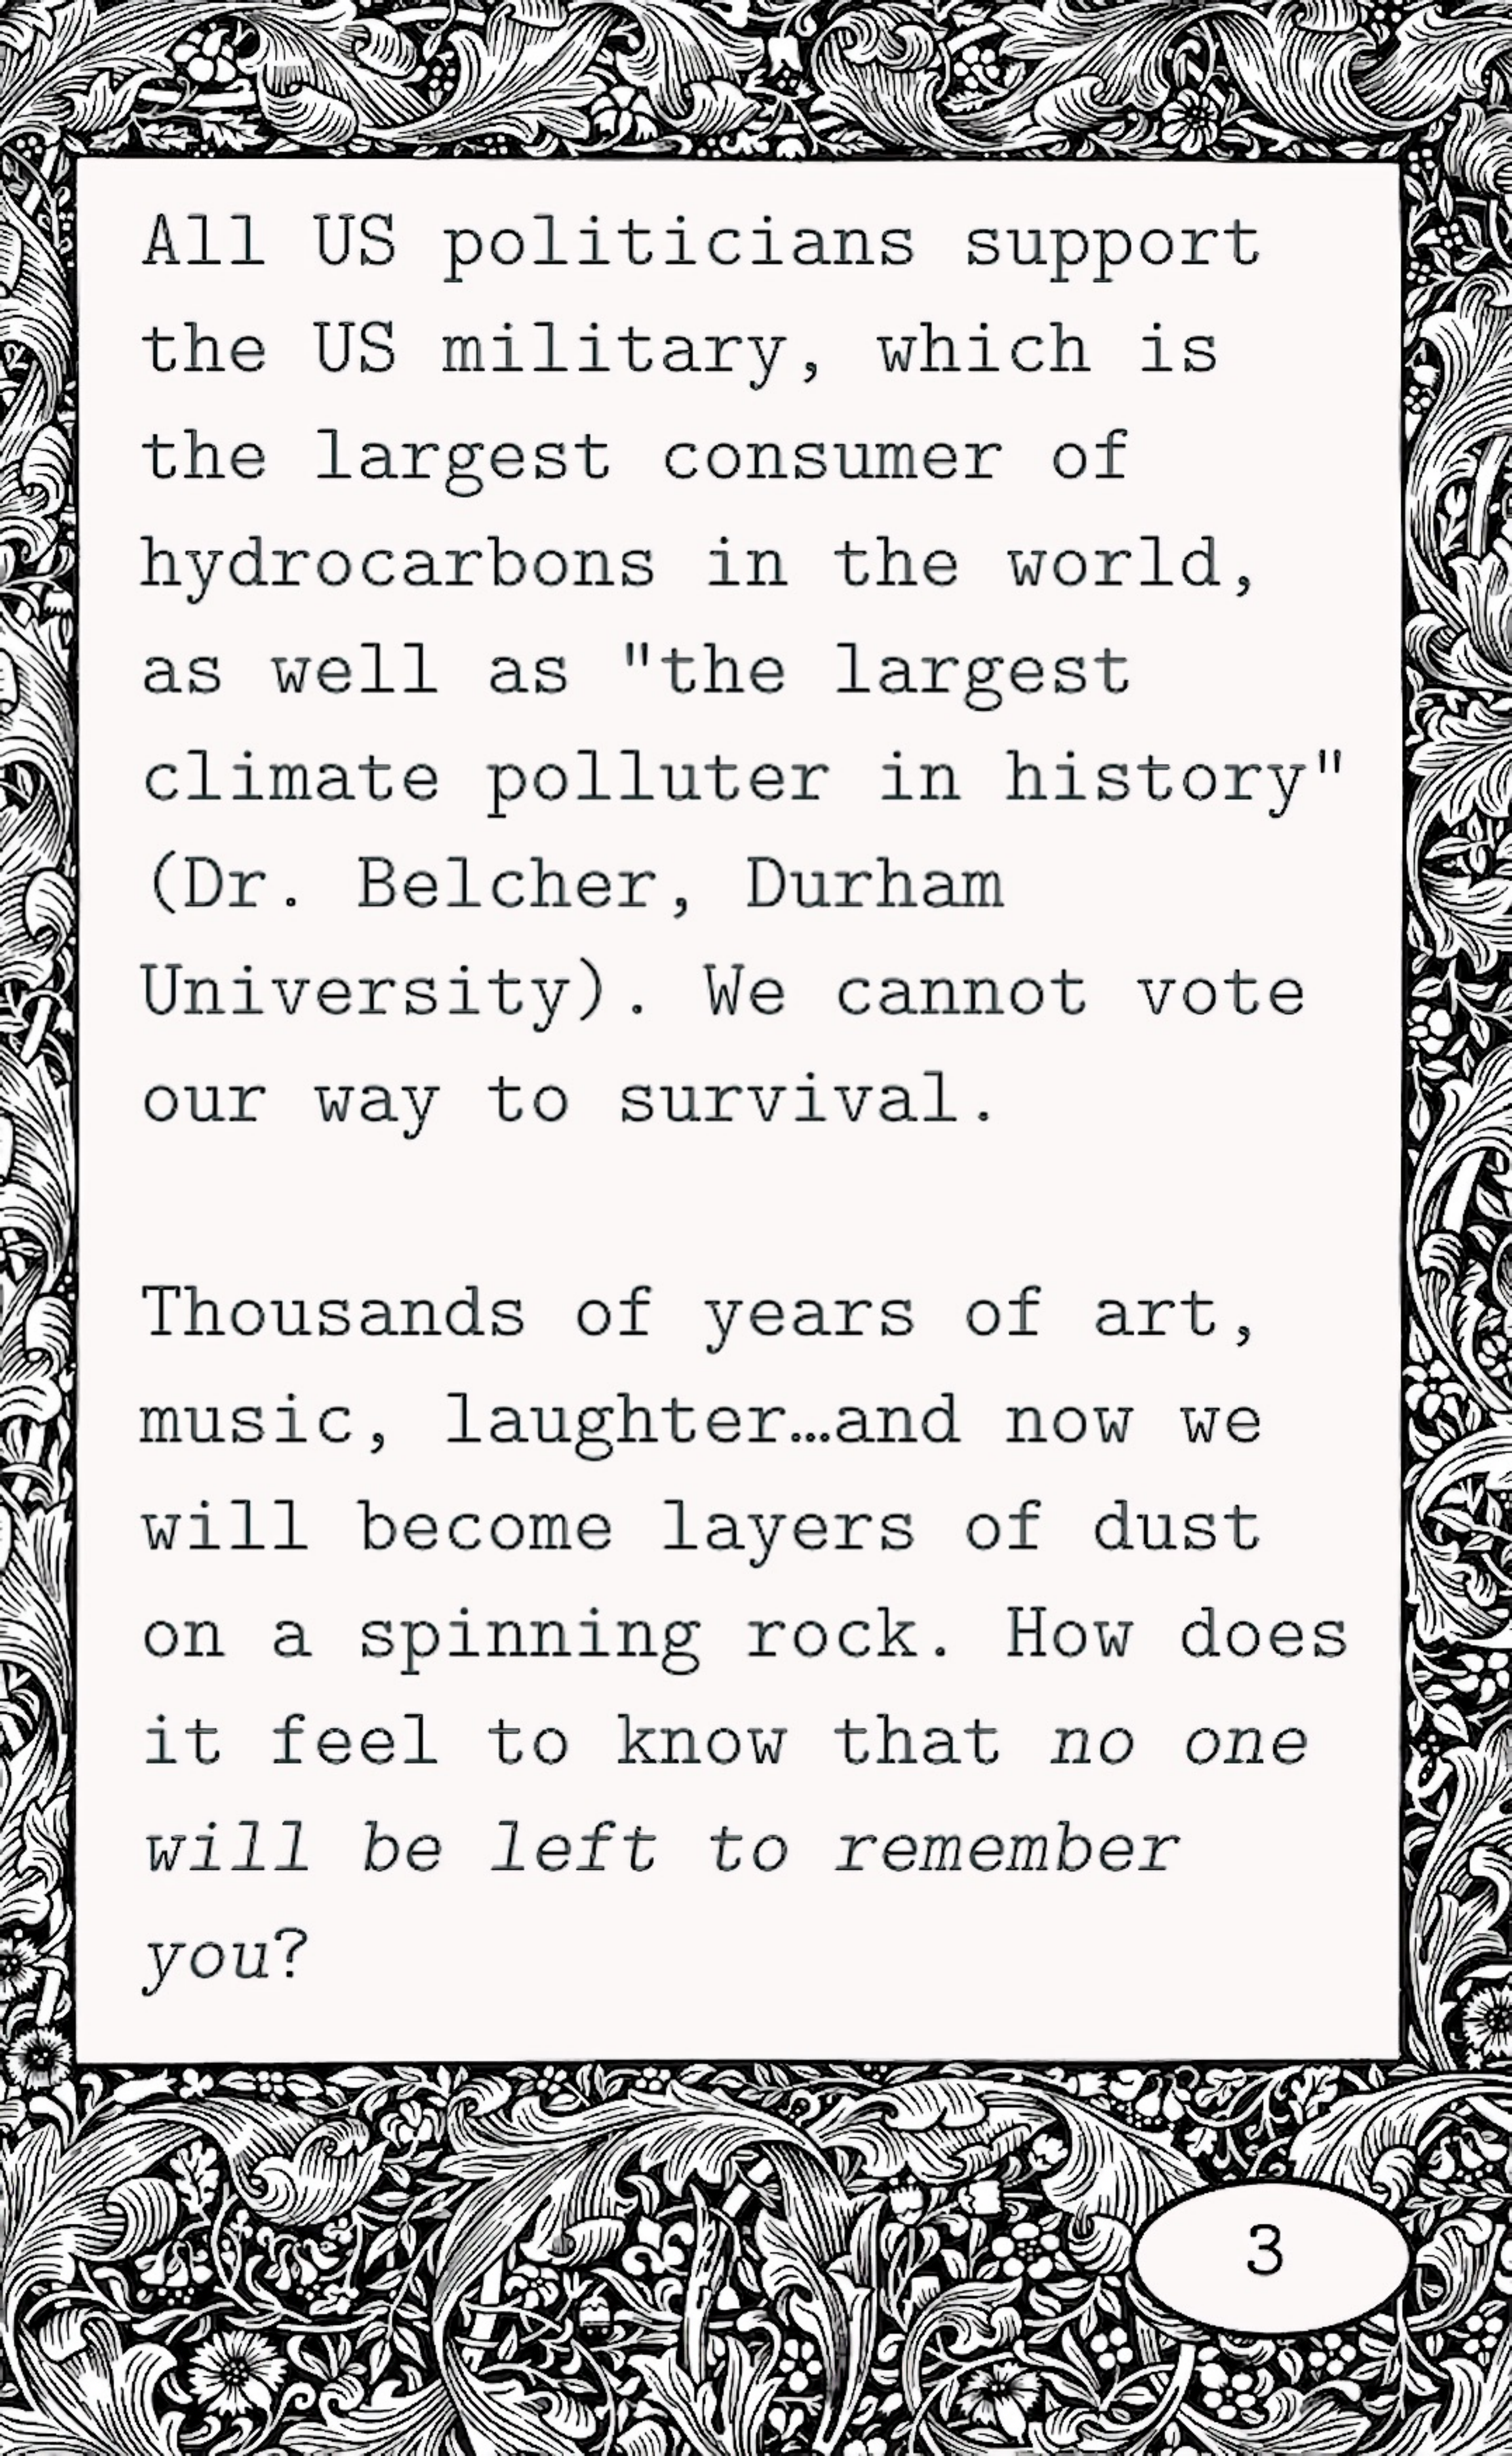

GREEN

An intricate, black and white Art Nouveau style border with swirling floral and leaf patterns surrounds the text.

Many countries and corporations have goals to be carbon neutral by 2050 or earlier by planting trees, carbon pricing, or another market driven fix. Why are you so pessimistic? These efforts, along with the development of renewable energy, will be enough to stop global warming.

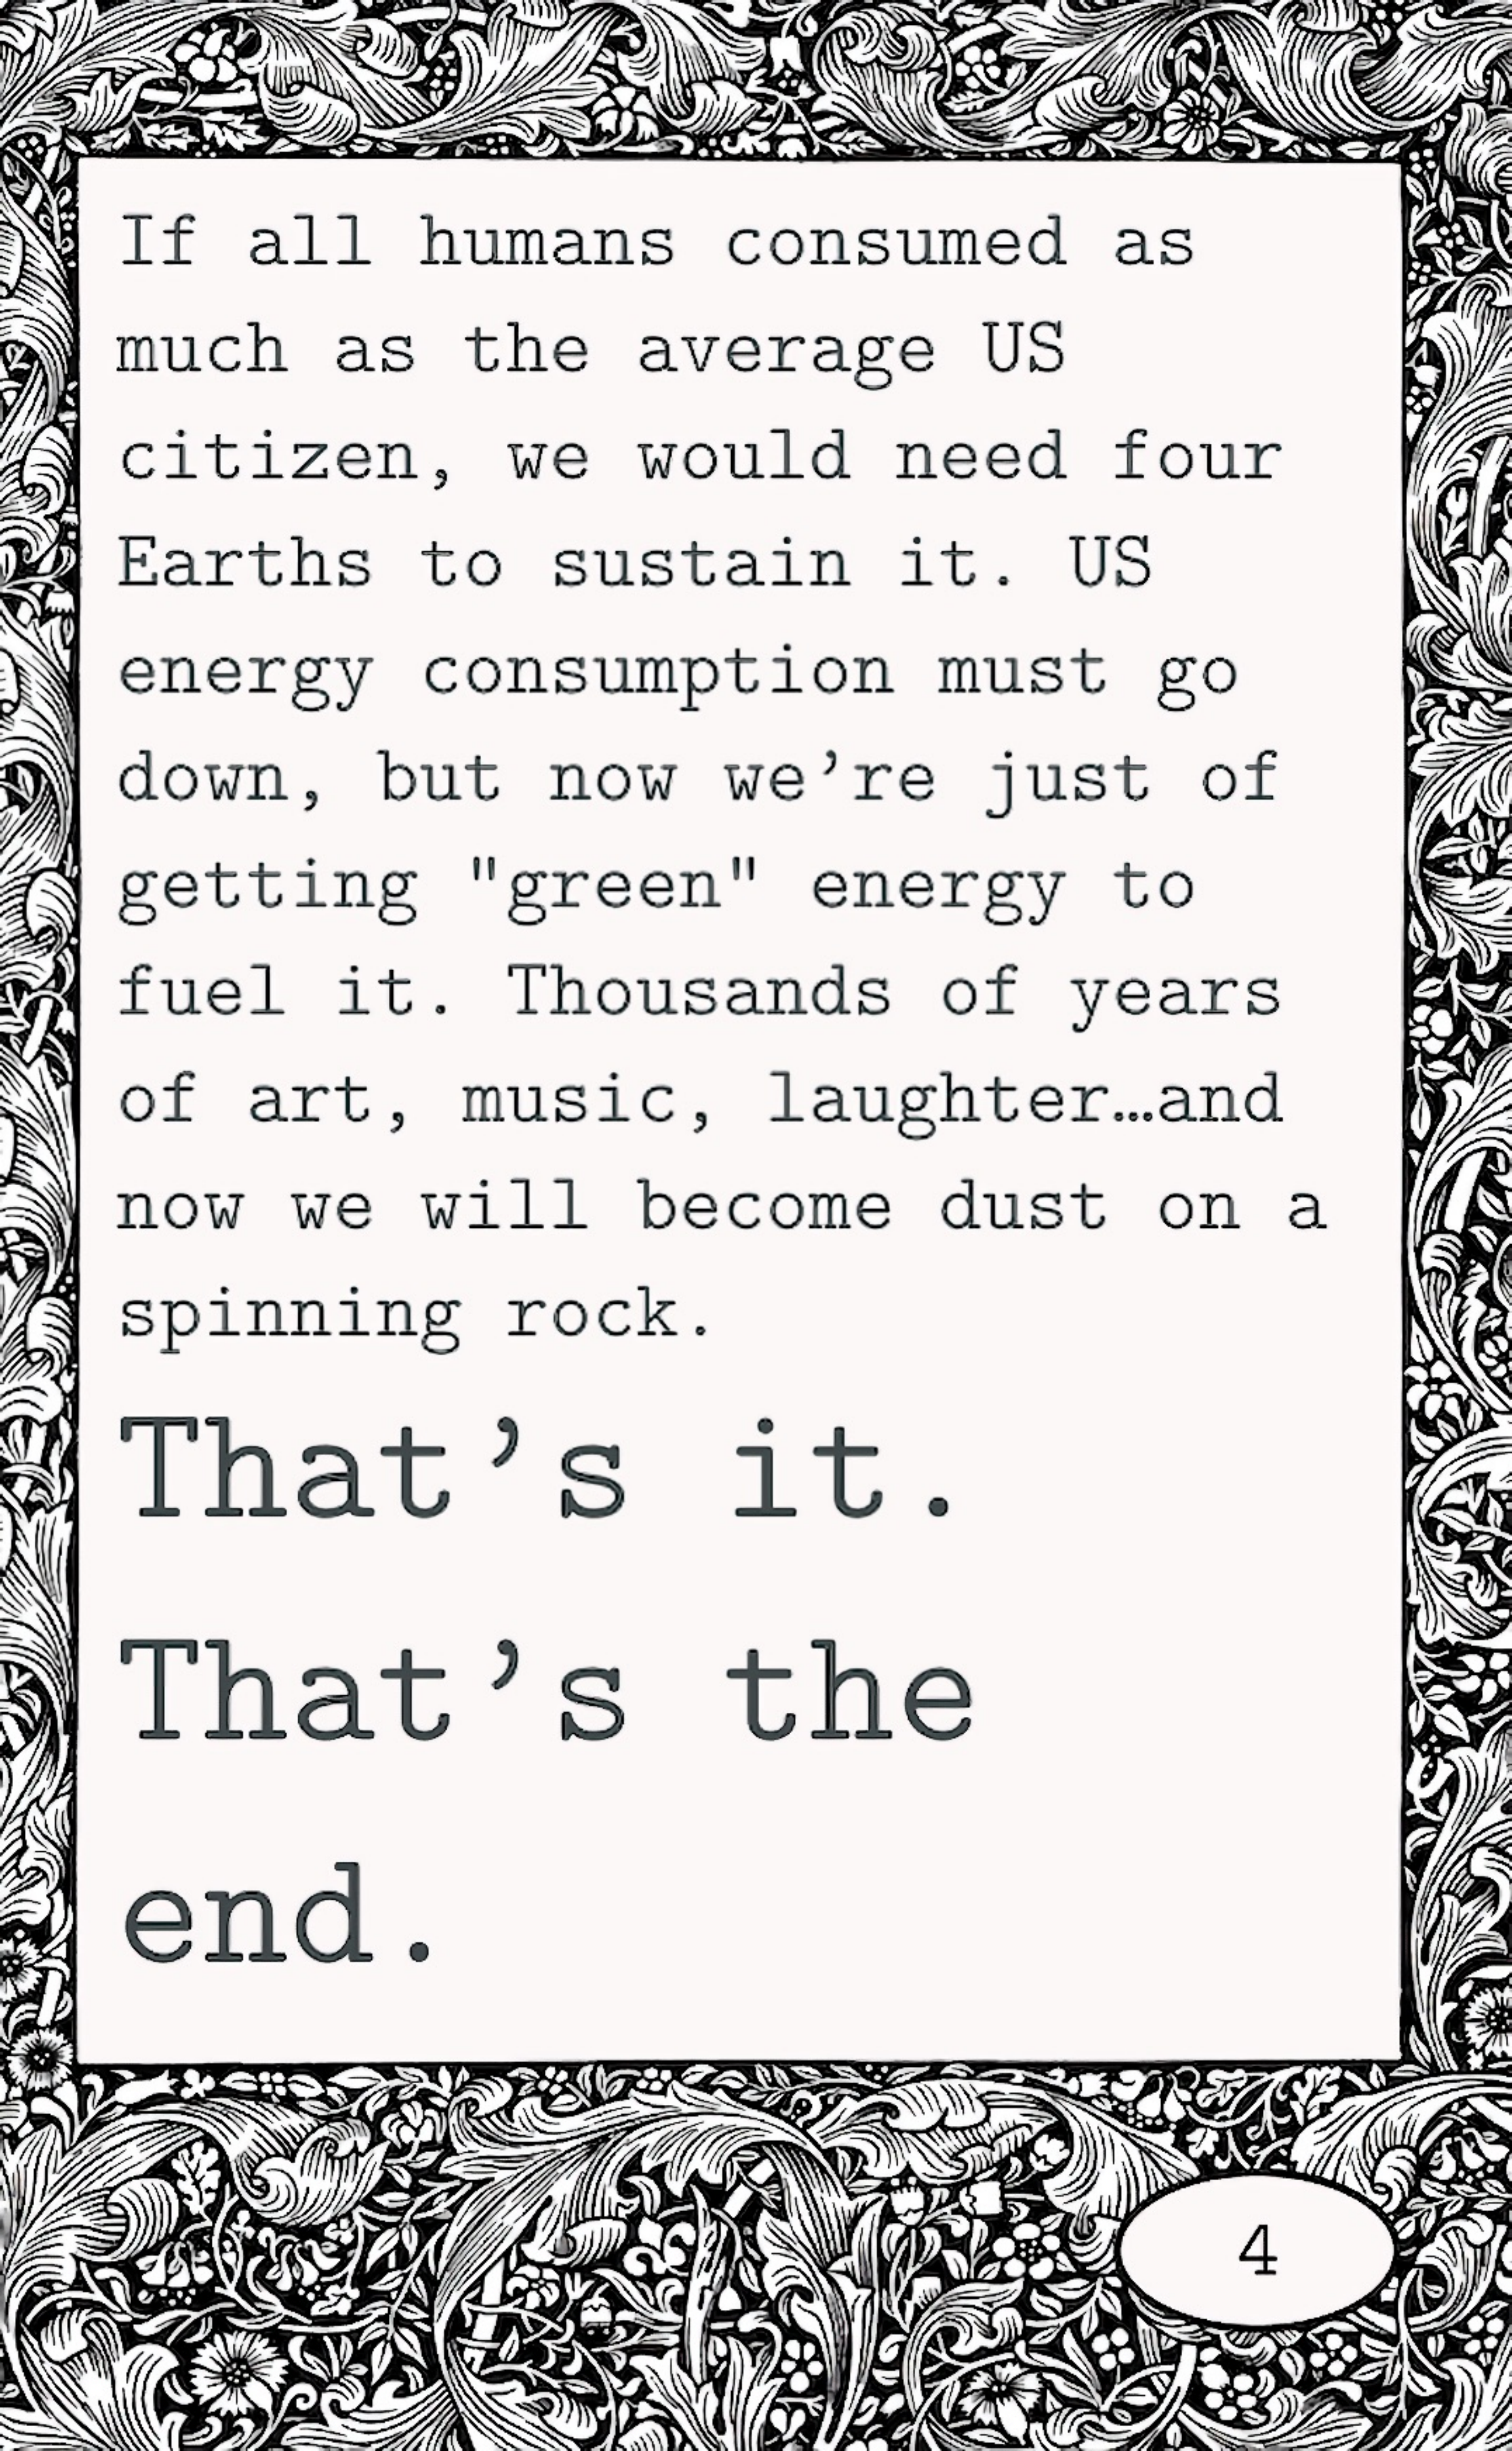

choose
capitalism?
go to page 4

choose
decolonization?
go to page 5

An intricate, black and white decorative border surrounds the text. It features a dense pattern of stylized flowers, leaves, and swirling vines, reminiscent of Art Nouveau or Victorian-era decorative arts. The border is consistent on all four sides of the page.

All US politicians support the US military, which is the largest consumer of hydrocarbons in the world, as well as "the largest climate polluter in history" (Dr. Belcher, Durham University). We cannot vote our way to survival.

Thousands of years of art, music, laughter...and now we will become layers of dust on a spinning rock. How does it feel to know that no one will be left to remember you?

The page is framed by a highly detailed, black and white Art Nouveau style border. It features intricate floral motifs, including roses, lilies, and various leaves, with swirling, organic lines that create a dense and decorative frame around the central text.

If all humans consumed as much as the average US citizen, we would need four Earths to sustain it. US energy consumption must go down, but now we're just of getting "green" energy to fuel it. Thousands of years of art, music, laughter...and now we will become dust on a spinning rock.

That's it.

That's the end.

We can use telescopes to look far, far away and see the Pillars of Creation where gas and dust spawn fiery new stars, or we can use journaling to examine ourselves as “living, breathing manifestation[s]” of planet Earth. The universe gave rise to humans, the only form of sentient life in the universe. We are “the consciousness of the cosmos.”

We support giving stolen land back to its original inhabitants because we remember that astronomers “have been able to look at many distant galaxies using powerful telescopes, but they haven’t found anything as beautiful as this planet Earth.”

(quotes from LOVE LETTER TO THE EARTH)

endaverse.
ors